

Spring 2021

New Products for a Better Work Experience

Steelcase

People's expectations
for the workplace
have been forever changed.

It's time to give them a better work experience.

Better starts with solving for an even more diverse set of needs — including safety, comfort and a sense of belonging. We'll need to design spaces that are flexible and can change over time.

Inside you'll find new solutions and innovative products designed to deliver on people's new needs and expectations. We're here to help make work better.

“We’re living in a crucial moment for design, faced with an imperative to create better places and better experiences to put people at the center of places where we connect, create and collaborate.”

Define Your Destination

A foundational and defining element for any floorplan, Steelcase Flex Active Frames creates productive, adaptable and inspiring homes for teams in the open office.

Active Frames is a canvas for expression through its range of materiality and customisable configurations. With a desired aesthetic, the simple, gridded form can be built small in stature or grand in size, and achieve just the look you want. Create an architectural statement in an open setting or a studio-like environment designed for creativity.

Inside and Out

Grab some fresh air or a quick bite — this WorkCafé and adjacent outdoor space are designed to reinvigorate and recharge.
